Dallas (July 16, 2020) – Dallas is home to three new leaders for BOK Financial’s treasury management team across an eight-state footprint.

Tammy Foy has been promoted to national sales director for treasury services for BOK Financial, parent company of Bank of Texas. Foy joined Bank of Texas in 2013 as the treasury sales manager for Dallas/Fort Worth and was quickly promoted to treasury regional sales manager for BOK Financial. Now, as national sales director, she is responsible for the strategic sales and onboarding efforts of the treasury payments and liquidity solutions across the eight-state footprint of BOK Financial including Texas, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. Foy leads a highly skilled team that is passionate about building relationships and delivering superior sales consulting and onboarding experiences for our treasury clients.

“Tammy not only exhibits strong sales leadership skills, but she is known for her mentorship and creating a positive environment, while fostering very collaborative teams,” said Paula Barrington, executive vice president and executive director for treasury services. “She has been a significant contributor to the overall strategy for treasury services and this role will serve her well.”

Prior to joining Bank of Texas, Foy spent 15 years in treasury management at JP Morgan Chase and its predecessor Bank One. She earned her bachelor of business administration from Texas A&M University and is an active member of the local Association for Financial Professionals. She has been involved in National Charity League which supports many nonprofit organizations including the North Texas Food Bank, Meals on Wheels and New Friends New Life.

Mattson Uihlein has also been promoted to treasury sales manager for Dallas/Fort Worth. Uihlein joined Bank of Texas in 2010 as part of the Accelerated Career Track (ACT), a rotational development training program for college graduates. After completing the program, he spent six years in the corporate banking group as a credit analyst, quickly rising to become a relationship manager. He has spent the last three years as a treasury sales manager.

“Mattson has been influential in a variety of roles since beginning his career in our ACT program,” said Foy. “His diverse experience in the company made him the perfect fit for the treasury services sales leader for the Dallas/Fort Worth markets. Mattson always brings positive energy, can-do attitude and collaborative spirit when partnering with his internal and external colleagues, and he truly lives up to BOKF’s fundamental core mission to Achieve More Together.”

Uihlein earned a bachelor of science in economics with financial applications from Dedman College and a bachelor of business administration in finance and MBA from SMU's Cox School of Business. He has also been recognized in Dallas Business Journal's 40 Under 40.

In addition to the local treasury sales management leadership changes, Emiel Hill was promoted to director of treasury client implementation for the entire treasury services division within BOK Financial.

Since joining Bank of Texas in 2012, Hill has consistently been recognized as a top performer within BOK Financial, earning the Treasury Hero Award in 2014, being named a Top Partner for the 2016 Commercial Club, being elected committee chairman for the Treasury Thought Leadership Council and serving as an active member of the Diversity & Inclusion Council, which is led by BOK Financial President and CEO Steve Bradshaw.

“Emiel has been a significant contributor to our treasury project management efforts and has a keen focus on delivering an exceptional client experience,” added Foy. “As director of our national client implementation team, Emiel will be able to effectively drive and execute our treasury onboarding strategy across the entire BOK Financial organization. His engagement in our Diversity & Inclusion Council has also been very impactful to our mission.”

Hill earned his bachelor of science from Ohio State University and is also green belt certified in Six Sigma. He actively volunteers with Alzheimer's Association, Ronald McDonald House of Dallas, National Kidney Foundation and serves as a mentor for Big Brothers Big Sisters.
